Subject: Re: Making HTML documentation
Posted by weertj on Wed, 12 Jul 1995 07:00:00 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

In article <DBInoM.Cys@midway.uchicago.edu> rivers@cars3.uchicago.edu (Mark Rivers) writes:
> From: rivers@cars3.uchicago.edu (Mark Rivers)
> Subject: Making HTML documentation
> Date: Mon, 10 Jul 1995 20:02:46 GMT

> Does anyone have a way to take IDL procedure files documented with the standard > template and construct an HTML help file from them? Given one or more IDL files
> I would like to make an HTML help file with a table of contents. I am planning > to write an IDL procedure to do this, but hopefully someone has already done > it.

Take a look at ROBODoc.....

http://www.euronet.nl/users/weertj
http://www.xs4all.nl/~slothoub --- For a version including the source code.