
Subject: Re: german umlaut
Posted by szoonem on Wed, 22 Oct 1997 07:00:00 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

In article <344DEC41.A2CCE163@fz-juelich.de>, "R. Bauer"
<r.bauer@fz-juelich.de> wrote:

> Hi,
>
> We like know how to print out a german ae, oe or ue on a printer?
>

Look at the Octal codes for the vector drawn fonts (page 9-8 on IDL User's Guide for version 4) and you'll find most of what you are looking for, for instance:

```
string("346B) --> ae
```

Hope this helps. Cheers,

- Saeid

```
-----
| Saeid Zoonematkermani      | E-Mail: szoonem@astro.sunysb.edu |
| Dept. of Physics & Astronomy | Voice: (+1) (516) 632-8237    |
| State University of New York | Fax:   (+1) (516) 632-8742    |
| Stony Brook, NY 11794-3800 |                               |
```

```
-----
|           Home Page --> http://ozone.ess.sunysb.edu/           |
-----
```
