Subject: Re: compiling into function
Posted by Stein Vidar Hagfors H on Sat, 11 Oct 1997 07:00:00 GMT

morisset@iagusp.usp.br wrote:
> Is there any way to compile a programm into a function or a > sub-routine, to be sure that the modification of the source > file will be taken into account when running?
> The .r or .c commands are not to be used inside a program.

(If you're using IDL:)

Use the RESOLVE_ROUTINE routine - it's supposed to recompile procedures even if they have already been compiled - beware that it's the first matching file
in the path that's compiled, though.

Stein Vidar