Hi Folks,

I am in the process of putting together a small 3-day IDL programming course that I will be teaching in Denmark in the middle of February. This course is a private, on-site course. But the organization sponsoring the course has agreed to open the course to 3-4 additional people, if there is interest.

The course organizers are interested in learning how to write IDL programs (and specifically IDL widget programs) that can extend the functionality of ENVI. The course is appropriate for those having at least some experience writing IDL programs. At least 2.5 days of the 3 day course will be devoted strictly to IDL programming.

If you would like more details, please contact me as soon as possible.

Cheers,

David
