Subject: leaving room for a page title

I seem to recall seeing a post that described a system variable which allowed you to leave room at the top of a page for a main title or heading. I can't remember the variable, though. I'm using !p.multi, but want to leave room at the top of the page for a title and some other stuff. Can someone remind me of the slick way to accomplish this task.

Thanks very much,
