
Subject: Re: Problem with scrollable draw widgets and frames

Posted by Harald Frey on Wed, 15 Apr 1998 07:00:00 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Dyer Lytle wrote:

> Hi all,
>
> I had an interesting problem today with a program which was > giving me an error I don't understand. I've condensed the > program and included it below. The program pops up a small > widget with a 'pushme' button. When I push the button, the > program attempts to pop up another widget containing a scrollable > graphics window but it dies in the attempt. This is IDL 5.03 > and/or IDL 5.1 Beta running on a Sun Ultra-2 with the Solaris > operating system.
>
> The funny thing is, if I remove the "frame = 1" keyword from the > draw widget definition, it works fine!
>
> I don't know if this is platform specific, perhaps it is. Anyway > the error message I get is (and I get dumped out of IDL!):
>

I get the same problem and error messages on sparc sunos unix 5.0.3.

Harald Frey
SSL-UCB
hfrey@ssl.berkeley.edu
