Subject: Upgrading from idl 3.6

Hi,
I am looking into how much work is involved in upgrading idl. Currently we are using a 3.6 on a osf alpha, and would like to upgrade to the lastest version of idl. If anyone has gone though this before, and has any advice or suggestions about how much w ork is involed, I would really apreachate it. We are using idl for the gui of a large software system, so the main interest is in how much the widgets and what not have changed.
Thanks!
