It seems that WIDED, the interactive widget builder, has been obsoleted in IDL 5.1. The thought of writing widget code by hand turns my stomach. Surely there is a nice interactive tool written in IDL for constructing a GUI?

(No, I'm not on a windows system and so I can't opt for a Delphi GUI tied to IDL via ActiveX.)

If such a code builder doesn't exist, is there sufficient interest to warrant it?

Cheers,
Darran.
