
Subject: Question about style

Posted by Imanol Echave on Wed, 29 Jul 1998 07:00:00 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Hi people:

In one of my programs I need to return some values, but every value is a matrix of different size and I can't make an array of matrix. The solution I've founded is to use an array of pointers pointing to the matrix. Do you think this is an elegant way to do it? Has anyone a better idea?

File Attachments

1) vcard.vcf, downloaded 100 times
