Subject: Question about style
Posted by Imanol Echave on Wed, 29 Jul 1998 07:00:00 GMT

Hi people:

 In one of my programs I need to return some values, but every value is a matrix of diferent size and I can't make an array of matrix. The solution I've founded is to use an array of pointers pointing to the matrix. Do you think this is an ellegant way to do it? Has anyone a better idea?

File Attachments
1) vcard.vcf, downloaded 79 times