Subject: Re: Making IDL Code Available
Posted by davidf on Thu, 03 Sep 1998 07:00:00 GMT

Gwyn Fireman (fireman@aerialist.gsfc.nasa.gov) writes:

>> My idea is to offer IDL save files on the shareware site, >> and send you the IDL code when you register the product >> and pay your shareware fee. (I'm thinking of fees in the >> neighborhood of $20-$100, depending upon the program.)
>
> I have a practical problem -
>
> Those of us on government contracts sometimes have a hard time getting > checks cut for shareware, though it is a easier when there is a > corporation set up.

Geez, half my book income comes from government contracts.
I spend half my day certifying that the damn thing is Y2K compliant. But if it really is a problem I could set up some kind of in-kind payment. Perhaps a testimonial on the newsgroup. ;-)

Cheers,

David

P.S. I was really hoping you would use those government credit cards. :-)

David Fanning, Ph.D.
Fanning Software Consulting
E-Mail: davidf@dfanning.com
Phone: 970-221-0438, Toll-Free Book Orders: 1-888-461-0155
Coyote's Guide to IDL Programming: http://www.dfanning.com/