
Subject: Re: Request for comparisons of IDL and Matlab

Posted by davidf on Tue, 22 Sep 1998 07:00:00 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Harvey Rarback (rarback@ssrl.slac.stanford.edu) writes:

- > I got two responses from people who had used both environments and were
- > clear that, although both languages could do what we need, Matlab was
- > easier to use and had more tools and better support.

Better support than what? This newsgroup!? Nah. :-)

David

David Fanning, Ph.D.

Fanning Software Consulting

E-Mail: davidf@dfanning.com

Phone: 970-221-0438, Toll-Free Book Orders: 1-888-461-0155

Coyote's Guide to IDL Programming: <http://www.dfanning.com/>
