
Subject: Re: Installing IDL on an AlphaSX64 running RedHat Linux
Posted by pit on Mon, 28 Sep 1998 07:00:00 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

In article <6u63ai$jgr$1@news1.bu.edu>,
jhallum@bu.edu (Jeremy Hallum) writes:

- > Has anyone here had any success installing IDL on machine running
- > this type of configuration?

No, but just try to install the standard Alpha binary, it should run.
At least, that is how we did it with our Sparc Machine: We installed
Linux (Debian), over the old SunOS 4.1 and just used the old sparc binary of IDL. Eventually, you may need some of the old libraries, too.

Peter

--

Peter "Pit" Suetterlin <http://www.uni-sw.gwdg.de/~pit>
Universitaets-Sternwarte Goettingen

Tel.: +49 551 39-5048 pit@uni-sw.gwdg.de

-- * -- * ...-- * -- * ...-- * -- * ...-- * -- * ...-- * -- * --

Come and see the stars! <http://www.kis.uni-freiburg.de/~ps/SFB>
Sternfreunde Breisgau e.V. Tel.: +49 7641 3492
