Subject: retrieval of droplist elements

Hellu,
  Is there a way to retrieve the elements of a widget_droplist from the event? I know that the event generates an index value for the element selected in the droplist, but I don't know how to retrieve the list to figure out what this element is. Currently I use a hard coded case statement that uses the index to figure out what to do next, but what I would like is a way to retrieve the element with out either the case statement, and without passing the array of element names. Any suggestions?
