Hi-

I create a draw widget with scrollbars and display images in it. When the image is small, I want the scrollbars to dissappear. I do this by calling widget_control with xsize and ysize set to a number greater than the size of the image. But, the draw widget still allocates space on the screen for the scroll bars even though they arent visible.

Anyone know how to get the draw widget to be the correct size for my small images?
