
Subject: cylindrical mapping

Posted by Chris Rennie on Thu, 28 Oct 1999 07:00:00 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Can anyone suggest a shortcut for plotting a timeseries in cylindrical coordinates? I would like to plot a phase angle as a function of time (which is to be the axial coordinate), and would like to try this representation.

TIA

Chris

--

Chris Rennie

rennie@physics.usyd.edu.au

Dept of Theoretical Physics

Building A29

Tel: +61 (2) 9351 5799

University of Sydney

NSW 2006, Australia

Fax: +61 (2) 9351 7726
