Subject: Re: Does the hide-keyword work?
Posted by Karri Kaksonen on Sun, 31 Oct 1999 07:00:00 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

mumble.. mumble...
sorry. I was a bad student at Davids course.
He told me not to use keyword_set to check if the user has entered a keyword. But I forgot...

  if keyword_set(hide) then o->setproperty, hide=hide is obviously not the same as if n_elements(hide) ne 0 then o->setproperty, hide=hide

Now "hide" works just as I thought it would.
Thank you for your trouble,

--
Karri

Mark Hadfield wrote:
>> o->setproperty, hide=1
>>
>> makes the object invisible :)
>>
>> o->setproperty, hide=0
>>
>> does not bring it back :( > Setting HIDE to zero should have made your object visible again. But the > window will need to be redrawn before you can see the change.
>
> ---
> Mark Hadfield