
Subject: rendering unequally spaced data
Posted by bill on Thu, 07 Apr 1994 03:00:47 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I have an NxM float array that represents an unequally spaced set of data. I wish to image these data but would like to render it without having to explicitly perform the interpolation myself. I can contour this with no problemo and IDL does beautifully well. But the imaging is another story.

Thanks in advance,
--Bill
