
Subject: Re: Work at RSI!

Posted by Kenneth Mankoff on Thu, 06 Apr 2000 07:00:00 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

>>
>> While Boulder is just a little south of God's Country, it's >> close enough. I'd encourage all you "go-to" guys to think >> about this. If you are into outdoor activities, you will never >> find a better place to live than Boulder. And although you don't >> get to wear your pajamas to work like I do, RSI is pretty >> casual. I think it's a great place to work. :-)

>>
>> Cheers,
>> David

>
> \begin{:-}) > and where do we actually live, if we work in Boulder? I already > moved out of one God's country (bay area) as I could not afford > a decent place to live.
>
> Mirko (Gilbert, AZ) > \end{:-})

Live in the mountains 25 minutes west if you don't mind the commute. That's much much better than in Boulder. Also, boulder is expensive for most of its residents but that's because they are students and coffee shops just don't pay as well as RSI.

Ken Mankoff
Boulder, CO
L.A.S.P.
