Subject: Expanding IDL's list of approved image formats

Is there a (relatively) painless way to convince IDL to accept a new image format? I'm writing an application that has to load in the currently approved types and ACR/NEMA files. It'd be most convenient if I could just get IDL to add ACR/NEMA to its list of formats, and then use the inbuilt image loading/writing dialogs and routines...

Can anyone help?
