In article <MPG.138c4aba88e8cc85989b29@news.frii.com>, David Fanning <davidf@dfanning.com> wrote:

>   B. Lop off enough of the table with your chain saw >   to make it fit.

David,

There is definitely something wrong with the way the bounding box is set when encapsulation is turned on. All my axis labels on the left-most plots disappear when I turn encapsulation on. Opening the file in Illustrator shows that the bounding box is the problem.

I'm using P.MULTI. I'd rather not have to duplicate that function to position my plots when I turn encapsulation on.

Ken