
Subject: Re: Record Day on IDL Newsgroup
Posted by Mark Hadfield on Tue, 01 Aug 2000 07:00:00 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

And so the IDLers, weary from their day of frantic posting, go to their beds.

"Oh I wish, I wish," they say to themselves, "that my wish makes David's top 10." And in the small hours when dark thoughts arise they will think, "I hope, I hope that there will be a top 10. Surely David would never let us down." For, as a very wise man has said, "IDL users are ever hopeful but never satisfied."

And on the other side of the world, where people are getting ready to go to their homes in the winter evening, a few persistent souls notice that a calm has descended on comp.lang.idl-pvwave.

Mark Hadfield
m.hadfield@niwa.cri.nz <http://katipo.niwa.cri.nz/~hadfield/>
National Institute for Water and Atmospheric Research
PO Box 14-901, Wellington, New Zealand
