Indeed, now for once I had thought, I could really change the evolution of mankind by participating in a grassroot campaign and sent a feature request 10 minutes ago. Sorry, RSI! But maybe, they should lift the veil a bit in advance and have the change log published on their web page in regular intervals, so people could follow progress (and they wouldn't even have to hire someone to follow up). If they think, it's too embarassing; well then put it under some obscure address like www.rsinc.com/support/contrib/declassified/boring/system_stuff/old_changes/very_old_stuff/latest.html

Cheers,
Martin
