Hi Folks,

Uh, oh. Bad news.

I just found out that COMPLEMENT and NCOMPLEMENT keywords have already been added to the WHERE function and will be in the IDL 5.4 release. :-(

And the worst news is that it was not because of our radical letter writing campaign, it was just because it seemed like a really good thing to do and there had been several "official" requests by users in the past.

Bummer. And I just ordered 500 pens from Office Depot.

Guess it just goes to show you RSI really does listen to what people are asking for.

In any case, I've got a book to write and other things to do. I'm just going to wait until IDL 5.4 shows up and see what's there and what isn't. And although it goes totally against my grain, maybe I'll just ask for new features with a polite letter that begins, "Hi, I love IDL, but..."

Couldn't hurt. :-)

Cheers,

David
