Subject: mod_idl?

Here's one off the wall - has anyone thought of asking rsi for a mod_idl apache module similar to mod_perl and mod_python? This of course would embed an IDL interpretter inside apache, so you didn't have to use CGI (notoriously wasteful) for executing IDL scripts, then displaying output in web pages etc.

Would this be a useful thing even? I was just curious to see what people thought.
