All,

I propose that we have an IDL variation of Murphys law that says "The act of posting to the newsgroup automatically means that you will find a problem". Perhaps we can call it Fannings law since I have seen David write about it more than once....

Anyway, the mapViz zip file on my website didn't have the directory structure right so people ended up with files in the wrong place. I have fixed that and have the new version at

Thanks for your patience.

-Ronn
