I must say that this is the first time in 5 years of reading this newsgroup that I am truly glad fate handed me PV-Wave in grad school rather than IDL. I regularly have this feeling when thinking about Matlab ;-)

But I hope everything works out because I don't think the 3 or 4 of us using PV-Wave could really justify having our own newsgroup. And I am not sure that IDL users who employ objects and widgets would be willing to make the switch over . . .
