
Subject: Stats and graphs, χ^2

Posted by hoconnel on Wed, 22 Jun 1994 23:26:08 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

> Could someone please help me? I have a set of experimental data (with error > bars) and wish to match it with a theoretical curve that I can adjust by > changing the value of two parameters.

> I can draw this diagram with IDL and wondered how i could use IDL to give me > the value of the χ^2 for a particular theoretical curve, to help me decide > which curve has the best fit to the experimental data.

> Please reply to this account.

> Thanks,

> Heath.

--

hoconnel@dirac.physics.adelaide.edu.au
