Subject: Re: Double tickmark annotations
Posted by promashkin on Wed, 25 Oct 2000 07:00:00 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

David Fanning wrote:
>
> We really need to come up with a standard sarcasm glyph.
> I propose we form an ad hoc committee at the IDL Expert > Programmer's Association annual meeting Friday, Oct 31st > to come up with something. (Those of you who have been > invited know where it is being held, of course.)

I would suspect its being held somewhere at a brewery that has a car wash nearby, so that contestants may wash David's car easily.
> In case you are wondering, the date of our annual > meeting was chosen to coincide with the general > craziness of All Hollow's Eve. The thinking being that > maybe we could save a little bail money this year > and put it toward a project to document all the > platform-specific features of IDL. :-)

The only thing I am surprised about is how come the meeting was not held on Friday, October 13th?
But, on the other hand, I guess we can come trick-or-treating. I'll dress up as a Kodak color film box, with an IDL logo on the bottom :-)

cheers,
Pavel