We really need to come up with a standard sarcasm glyph.
I propose we form an ad hoc committee at the IDL Expert Programmer's Association annual meeting Friday, Oct 31st to come up with something. (Those of you who have been invited know where it is being held, of course.)

In case you are wondering, the date of our annual meeting was chosen to coincide with the general craziness of All Hollow's Eve. The thinking being that maybe we could save a little bail money this year and put it toward a project to document all the platform-specific features of IDL. :-)

Cheers,

David
