Subject: Re: Fixed! Had to edit .emacs
Posted by dominik on Wed, 25 Oct 2000 04:22:54 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

>>>> > "a" == amacphee <amacphee@my-deja.com> writes:

a> Simply had to put in the auto load commands etc into the .emacs a> file WHy didnt it say this somewhere obvious!

Because this should be automatic with the package installation.
However, the XEmacs guys have not decided how to install autoloads from packages, thats why you still need to do this by hand.

a> Andrew

a> In article <8t4gpk$fa8$1@nnrp1.deja.com>, amacphee@my-deja.com
a> wrote:
>> Hi, I have been trying without success to get the xemacs package >> idlwave working (IDL works fine).
>>
>> My machine is a pc with RH7 linux and cannot be connected to the >> network. (I have to write files to a cd from another machiine and >> load them from that.)
>>
>> How do I install it by hand? What files do I need to put where?
>>
>> When I add a directory in xemacs from whence to find the binary, >> the package doesn't show up in the package list. I guess I must >> either have the wrong file, or be pointing at the wrong directory.
>>
>> Thanks, Andrew
>>
>> Sent via Deja.com http://www.deja.com/ Before you buy.
>>

a> Sent via Deja.com http://www.deja.com/ Before you buy.

--
Carsten Dominik <dominik@astro.uva.nl>   \ _ /
Sterrenkundig Instituut "Anton Pannekoek" |X| _
Kruislaan 403; NL-1098 SJ Amsterdam   /| |\ _ _   _/ \
phone +31 (20) 525-7477; FAX +31 (20) 525-7484 __|o|___/ ~~ ___/   ~~~