
Subject: Re: eps bounding boxes - more info
Posted by R.G.S. on Tue, 31 Oct 2000 16:44:19 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Here is my landscape device statement, if it helps at all.

```
device,filename=outputfilename,xsize=8,xoffset=1.5,yoffset=1 1-2,ysize=5.5,/i nches,/landscape
```

Cheers,
bob

Stuart Colley <src@star.ucl.ac.uk> wrote in message news:Pine.OSF.3.96.1001031113337.31423A-100000@zuaxp7.star.ucl.ac.uk...

```
>
>> So how come ghostview doesn't display all of the .eps file?
>
> The eps file is produced in Landscape mode, by making the page offset > bigger I have managed to get ghostview to display all of the eps file > correctly, which leads me to suspect my XOffset and YOffset calculations > are not 100% correct when doing Landscape plots ... so I'm surprised the > PS plot (for the old page offset) turned out o.k.
>
> cheers
>
```