
Subject: UNIX I/O

Posted by Christian Beck on Tue, 05 Dec 2000 08:00:00 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I have a maybe trivial problem concerning UNIX file attributes. Is there a way of MANIPULATING the unix file attributes from IDL? They are easy to read using FSTAT. I wrote a program for scientific neutron scattering data reduction which is used by many users on a UNIX server. Then problem: they log-in with their accounts and the corresponding output file are written with the read-only file attribute.

chris

Dr. Christian Beck
Paul-Scherrer Institute & ETH-Zürich
Laboratory for Neutron Scattering building/room number WKPA / 2
CH-5232 Villigen/PSI
Switzerland

telephone number +41 (0) 56 310 46 12

+49 (0) 170 273 1179

fax number +41 (0) 56 310 29 39

e-mail Christian.Beck@psi.ch

www www.BestColloids.com
