Folks,

I was going to bore you to death with a long essay about how programs and programming styles evolve, etc. But I'm too busy fixing things right now... :-)

Suffice it to say, that if you have been downloading programs from my web page to use with that new IDL programming book you got for Christmas, you may want to download the latest:

<http://www.dfanning.com/programs/coyoteprograms.zip>

The long and short of it is this. One of my private programs found its way into my public repository and was causing all kinds of havoc, especially with my flagship program PSCONFIG. I'm sorry for the confusion.

If you get any error messages that pertain to the program FSC_DROPLIST, you definitely need to download new programs. And in particular, you will need these three:

fsc_droplist.pro
fsc_psconfig__define.pro
fsc_surface.pro

Cheers,

David

P.S. Let's just say I have renewed appreciation for how absolutely bug-free IDL is, compared to my out-of-control library. :-)
