Subject: Printf and line breaks

Sorry to bother everyone with another question. But, I am just at the beginning of the enduring process of learning IDL.

My current problem is with printf. I am trying to create a text output file that can be easily imported into a spreadsheet. From what I can tell, printf automatically line wraps after 80 or so characters. For my output, I want printf to print everything on the same line. I am wondering if anyone knows how to do this or if this is even possible?

Thanks,

Alan
