I have a filled contour plot that I would like to display with a color bar. Everything looks fine on the screen but when I try to print, the colors on the bar are no longer correct. They appear washed out(dithered?). The contour colors, however, appear correct. If I look at the file with ghostscript, everything looks fine.

I am generating the color bar with TV. It seems that the printer is treating a plot and an image differently.
