IDL was installed and startet a couple of times, the Mac was NOT on a network and no startup file was used.
It tooks a extrem long time to come to a window, where I can choose my preferences (there are RSI and my own settings, which I can choose).
But, maybe, what I forgot to say, that we (at the moment) only own a testing version for 30 days, because we wanted to run our programms on a different system (we normaly use Sun and Windows, but now want to see, if the mac is faster). So maybe this problem comes with the testversion.
