Ahh... Thanks for pointing this out.. Gave me a chance to go back to the "really old days", and I found an old "IDL wish list" I wrote in 1995 (along the lines of the "top ten wishes for IDL in the next release"):

- 1. Pointers that work like real pointers (Check!)
- 2. A coherent way of deciding the result dimensions in indexed operations (nope!)
- 3. Possibility of Macros (nope!)
- 4. Possibility of having widget applications + command line available at the same time (like the help facility) (check - well, almost, they don't work without retalls)
- 5. Different brackets for array subscripts and function calls (check!)
- 6. A portable pseudo-language to produce true compiled subroutines (nope)

So, 2 1/2 out of 6 isn't that bad.. David, do you do recycling?
