Subject: Re: OPLOT fails intermittently, any ideas?
Posted by bleau on Thu, 19 Jul 2001 21:26:32 GMT

In article <3B5748F3.F55D02AF@lheapop.gsfc.nasa.gov>, tam <tam@lheapop.gsfc.nasa.gov> writes:
>
> Purely as a possible workaround...
>
> If you're running on a platform with X-windows and your IDL sessions are > running in an environment in which the console is known, then you could probably > use X-window PIXMAPs instead of the Z buffer.  E.g., [snip]

This has to work in a batch job environment, no access to X-window display (or any display).  Good thought, though.

Lawrence Bleau
University of Maryland
Physics Dept., Space Physics Group 301-405-6223
bleau@umtof.umd.edu