
Subject: Re: Local max filter

Posted by Craig Markwardt on Wed, 22 Aug 2001 22:48:40 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

JD Smith <jdsmith@astro.cornell.edu> writes:

>> JD and I had a contest doing this kind of thing -- finding maxima -- a >> year or so ago. Of course I popped his socks off, but he will tell >> you a different story :-)

>

> Hmmmph... from my posting before of April 2000:

>

> "Nice entry Craig. But unfortunately it doesn't always do exactly what > was > requested. It works fine for $n=5$, but for $n>5$ (7,9,...), the index is > off..."

Yeah, I was just baiting you a little. :-)

> P.S. Craig, now that I have your attention, I have an unrelated > question, the answer to which might be of general interest. How do you > feel about your excellent fitting/minimization routines being > distributed with a large scale freely available system for scientific > reduction and analysis?

I feel fine about that. Of course, someone else will provide the support, not me. :-) Any more details?

Craig
