
Subject: Re: global singleton object ?

Posted by Craig Markwardt on Wed, 03 Oct 2001 19:27:02 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

"Pavel A. Romashkin" <pavel.romashkin@noaa.gov> writes:

> Bob,

>

> The following URL points to a tiny file that does what you want.

> http://spot.colorado.edu/~romashki/idl/sobj_new.sav

> The SOBJ_NEW does not call OBJ_NEW is a singleton object already exists, > thus avoiding OBJ_NEW overhead.

> I also recommend checking out

> http://spot.colorado.edu/~romashki/idl/single_set.sav

Hey Pavel--

Is there any reason these have to be posted as SAV files? You saved it with IDL 5.5 which pretty much means you are catering to a very exclusive crowd right now ... :-)

Craig

--

Craig B. Markwardt, Ph.D. EMAIL: craigmnet@cow.physics.wisc.edu
Astrophysics, IDL, Finance, Derivatives | Remove "net" for better response
