
Subject: Re: Mac OSX

Posted by colinr on Wed, 10 Oct 2001 11:57:12 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

On Tue, 09 Oct 2001 17:44:57 GMT,

Dick Jackson <dick@d-jackson.com> wrote:

> Does anyone else agree that PC and Unix IDL users also benefit from the > fact that IDL reaches to the Mac platform? To my mind, knowing that code I > develop on PC can (in general) run on Mac as well adds value to my work, and > I'd think it reasonable to consider some of PC and Unix licence/maintenance > fees as going to support Mac development.

Absolutely. I don't use a Mac myself but I share code with colleagues who do.

--

Colin Rosenthal
Astrophysics Institute
University of Oslo
