Subject: Re: IDL on FreeBSD
Posted by Heike Koch-Beuttenmue on Wed, 21 Nov 2001 11:43:05 GMT

"Karthikayan B." wrote:
>
> I wonder if anyone had any success installing IDL on FreeBSD.
> The system:
>
>   IBM T20 running FreeBSD 4.4
>   Display card : S3 model graphics accelerator
>   IDL Version : 5.5
>
> The problem:
>
>   a) A displayed image gets eaten up if moved from one part of the > screen to another. In other words, when you move an image it is not > refreshed. So if you move the image to the centre of the screen those > portions that were under other windows are just blank spaces.
>
>   b) I can not get the online help to work. It brings up an error > message saying that "No selection is avaliable. Unable to execute the > command"
>
> Can any one offfer help. Thanks.
>   -BK

I am new in using IDL and get the same problem on Sun Solaris.

Heike Koch-Beuttenmï¿½ller