
Subject: Re: Windows XP problems

Posted by Rick Towler on Wed, 02 Jan 2002 17:33:52 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

We have one laptop in the lab with XP and at some point we'll want to run IDL on it licensed with our dongle. I would try getting the latest HASP driver directly from Aladdin.

<http://www.ealaddin.com/support/hasp/enduser.asp#latestDD>

This may or may not be the issue but it is probably the only thing we end users could do.

-Rick

"RichardW" <rmw092001@yahoo.com> wrote in message
news:9f4a7077.0112312253.4dddec1b@posting.google.com...

> has anyone noticed

>

> http://www.rsinc.com/services/output.cfm?tip_id=3272

>

> - HASP licensing isn't supported at all with Windows XP, and RSI want

> Windows users to post back their HASPs (free postage, thanks). I hope

> Windows XP compatibility mode works for IDL?!

>

> Richard

> IDL5.3/HASP/Windows Me user
