Greetings Everyone,

We have a client in Johannesburg who is implementing a treasury management system under PV~WAVE, a Visual Data Analysis tool for Unix and VMS workstations.

Our client is seeking applicants for a position in the treasury of a major Johannesburg bank. The position requires experience in PV~WAVE Command Language programming, and qualifications in applied mathematics and/or statistics. Experience in risk management or financial modelling is a plus.

A representative of our client will be visiting London and New York within the next month, allowing some time for interviews.

I would appreciate any responses sent via private e-mail.

Thank you,

Mark Thomas
