Subject: Re: Reporting routines called Posted by John-David T. Smith on Fri, 04 Jan 2002 23:31:18 GMT

"Pavel A. Romashkin" wrote:
>
> One way to do this is to use the Profiler. It doesn't print them but it > does show them.
> Pavel
>
> Gabe wrote:
>>
>> Hello,
>>
>> In IDL, is it possible to print out which routines are called during >> execution?
>> I can print out all compiled routines using help, /routines. It would >> be very helpful to know which of these are called in which order.
>>
>> Thanks

Or try:

  help,/traceback

If you use IDLWAVE (http://idlwave.org), you can just insert a breakpoint and navigate the call stack with C-c C-d C-Up. This is even nicer, because you can see the context of each call in the code itself, print variables local to that stack level, etc.

Good luck,

JD