
Subject: Re: IDL use for medical imaging
Posted by Geoff.Sobering on Wed, 12 Oct 1994 22:45:49 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

In article <37fkua$9mu@martha.utk.edu>, tribbey@roi.hosp.utk.edu (Will Tribbey) wrote:

- > I am interested in finding anyone else out there using
- > IDL for medical imaging work in any way. Also, does
- > anyone know of IDL being using in any teleradiology
- > type applications?

IDL is primary development tool for a variety of magnetic resonance analysis done here (ex. fMRI, spectroscopy, spectroscopic imaging, etc.). We have about 50 users of IDL or IDL-written applications.

--

Geoff Sobering (Geoff.Sobering@nih.gov)
In Vivo NMR Research Center
National Institutes of Health
