Subject: Can IDL build a standalong application

Hi, there,

I have a question about IDL:

If we program in C, we can make the project into a .exe file and make it into a standalong application. If we want to present it anywhere, we can carry only the .exe file and the corresponding DLL.

But how can we do it in IDL? If we want to present the application, does IDL need to be installed in the machine?

Regards,
