Subject: Re: Limiting concatenation IDL 5.5
Posted by Randall Skelton on Tue, 25 Jun 2002 16:31:22 GMT

Sorry... it seems I was wrong about the number of levels of concatenation being increased. The seg. fault still exists.

On Tue, 25 Jun 2002, Randall Skelton wrote:

> Hi all,
>
> Having just re-read the dimensional juggling tutorials posted by JD, I > noticed that in IDL 5.5 (Linux) the limit to the practical concatenation > dimension was increased from 3 up to 8 ;) Being one of those people who > occasionally use more than 3 dimensions, this makes my life a whole lot > easier.
>
> Of course, don't try and go for 9...
>
> IDL> a = findgen(20)
> IDL> print, [[[[[[[[[a]]]]]]]]]
> Segmentation fault
>
> Does anyone else observe the same?
>
> Cheers,
> Randall
>
>