
Subject: Re: changing editors?

Posted by condor on Tue, 09 Jul 2002 22:14:04 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

tim.gunter@bioscrypt.com (tim gunter) wrote in message news:<f924816d.0206261524.11b07d6@posting.google.com>...

> [...]

> i would find it extremely useful. especially if i could use use IDL > in combination with cygwin and bash to script IDL programs.

and

> yes, cygwin is a godsend. one of the most useful pieces of software i > have ever had the joy of using. windows is unusable to me without it.

So this is most probably a stupid question, but why not chuck windows and use one of the approximately zillion Linux flavors out there? You seem to be using your win-box mostly as a u*x box anyways, so why not just go that one last step?
